Celebrating Quad-City Students Making a Difference
Battle of the Bands: Saturday, March 6
To be held from 1-5pm at River Music Experience, 2nd Floor Performance Hall

On Saturday, March 6, students will be celebrating their success at the final event of United Way's 2010 Student Campaign. This year, 12 schools participated in the campaign by volunteering at the Student Day of Caring and raising money to help our community. On Saturday, we will be announcing the winning school for this year's campaign.

Battle of the Bands is a project planned by high school students who volunteer as members of United Way's Youth Advisory Council to raise additional donations and awareness of how teenagers can continue to give back to their community. The members of the council have been working on this event for the last few months and are passionate about helping those in need.

"I really like being part of the Youth Advisory Council. I can give back to my community, meet kids from other schools and learn about nonprofits in our area. It was a lot of fun to organize Battle. I can't wait to hear all of the bands!"

- Abbey Elizabeth Bryant, Youth Advisory Council member from Bettendorf High School

"It is part of United Way's work in the community to help engage high school students in philanthropy," says Scott Crane United Way of the Quad Cities Area president. "If they start knowing the benefits of giving back now, then they will continue to help others throughout their lives."
